

1663. The Lost 10 Tribes of Israel found

The woman in Revelation 12, with the garland of 12 stars is Israel. She is identified as Israel or the descendants of Jacob, Abraham's grandson, through the second dream that Joseph had as a boy.

<sup>12</sup> Now a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a garland of twelve stars. <sup>2</sup> Then being with child, she cried out in labor and in pain to give birth. (Rev. 12:1)

<sup>9</sup> Then he dreamed still another dream and told it to his brothers, and said, "Look, I have dreamed another dream. And this time, the sun, the moon, and the eleven stars bowed down to me."

<sup>10</sup> So he told it to his father and his brothers; and his father rebuked him and said to him, "What is this dream that you have dreamed? Shall your mother and I and your brothers indeed come to bow down to the earth before you?" (Gen. 37:9-10)

Jacob, Joseph's father, whose name got changed to Israel, by God, knew immediately that the Sun and the moon represented him and Joseph's mother and that the stars were Joseph's brothers, which thus identifies the woman in Revelation 12 as Israel or the people that are descendants of Jacob's 12 sons. However, we know who the Jews are but they are only one of the tribes, with some from Benjamin and Levi mixed in, as they were living with Israel at the time that the other 10 tribes were removed from their ancestral land, which is now known as Israel. So what happened to them and where are they? The answer is found in what Paul is recorded as having said in Acts 26:4-7:

<sup>4</sup> "My manner of life from my youth, which was spent from the beginning among my own nation at Jerusalem, all the Jews know. <sup>5</sup> They knew me from the first, if they were willing to testify, that according to the strictest sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee. <sup>6</sup> And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made by God to our fathers. <sup>7</sup> To this promise our twelve tribes, earnestly serving God night and day, hope to attain. For this hope's sake, King Agrippa, I am accused by the Jews.

At the time that Paul spoke this, the other 10 tribes had been gone from the land for a very long time; they were removed before Judah also went into captivity and then returned 70 years later. The other 10 tribes never returned and they had also stopped serving God by the time that they were removed. So how could Paul say that the 12 tribes were earnestly serving God? Simple, the Jews in the land at that time contained the genetic code the DNA from all 12 tribes. The tribe that each person belongs to is determined by the tribe their father belongs to. A woman born in one tribe and marrying a man from another tribe would become a part of her husband's tribe but carry the genetic material from her father's tribe. Thus, by marrying women from different tribes, which would especially happen during the time that they were in Egypt, the genetic material of each tribe was mixed in, so that each tribe contained a small percentage of the DNA from the others. Thus, all Jews would have a small percentage of the DNA from the other tribes and anyone who is part of the 10 tribes would have a small amount of Jewish DNA. Thus, Israel can nowadays be identified through a DNA test, any amount, even a tiny amount of Jewish DNA identifies this person as belonging to Israel; they are a part of the 10 lost tribes.

Those who are Jewish already know that they are a part of Israel, as the Jews kept their identity through the ages, but they will be surprised to find what seems to be other ethnic DNA in them, even though the Jews are known not to intermarry with other races. This other ethnicity is actually the 10 tribes that would be there probably from the time that the Judah tribe left Egypt.

Figure 1. Zach who clearly identified himself as Ashkenazi Jew (German and east European Jew) was surprised to find a small amount of Finnish and Iberian or Italian in his DNA. This would have been DNA coming from the other 10 tribes. This also shows that Finland, Iberia and Italy are main regions where the lost 10 tribes ended up in (Source: Video by BuzzFeedVideo, 20 May 2017: The Try Guys Take An Ancestry DNA Test <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=N06g2kc1Dxo>).

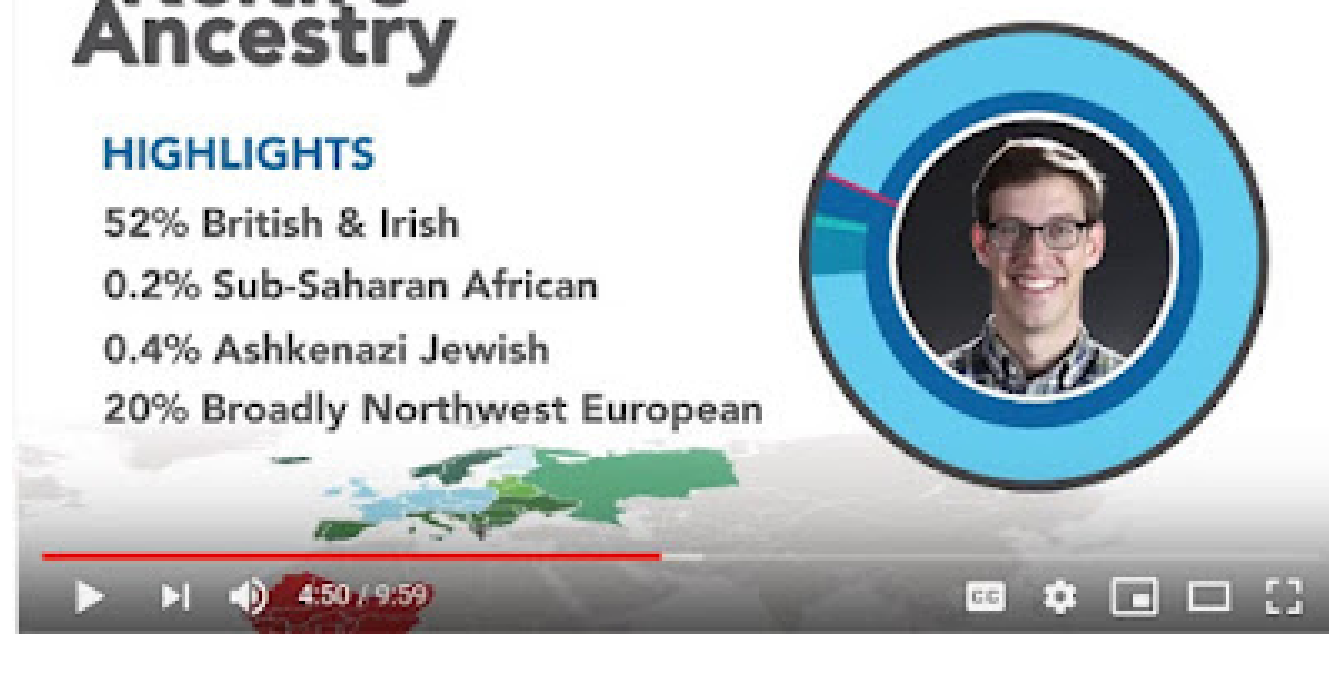

Figure 2. Keith is 0.4% Jewish which identifies him as part of Israel; he is part of the lost 10 tribes. The fact that he is mainly British and Irish (includes Scotland) suggests that this is part of the world where a lot of the lost 10 tribes ended up living.

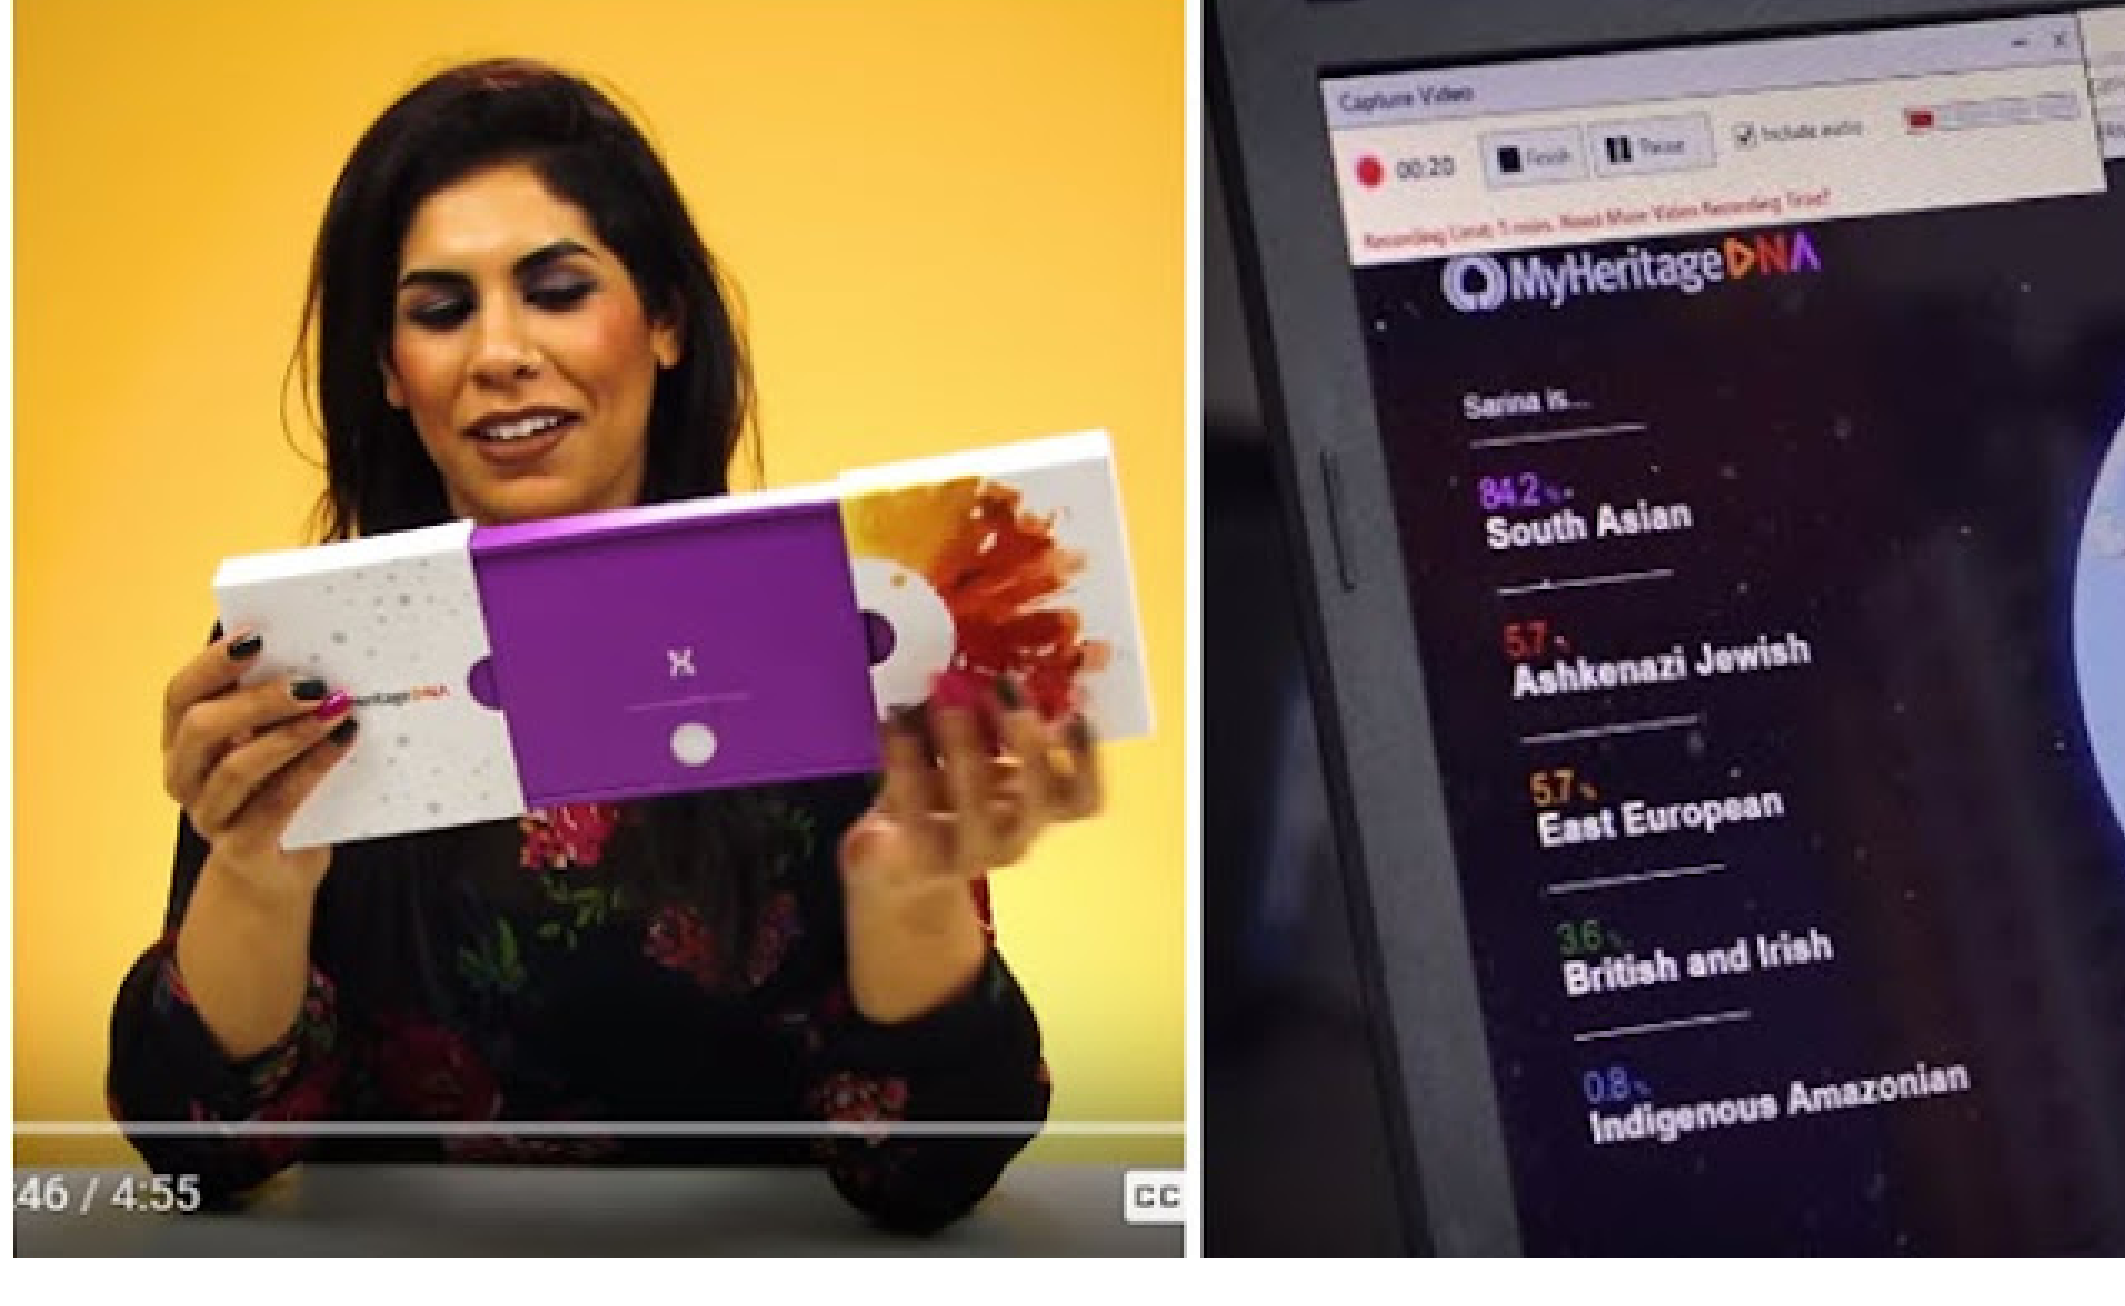

Figure 3. Serina, who identifies herself as South Asian, with a mother from Pakistan, is indeed 84% South Asian but also 5.7% Jewish, quite a large percentage (although the different tests will give different size percentages which is not important, what is important is that there is Jewish DNA), which suggests that quite a few of the 10 tribes migrated to South Asia, ending up in India and Pakistan. She is of course part of Israel; she is a part of the 10 lost tribes (Source: Video by facts, 12 Jun 2017: Irish People Take A DNA Test <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Gf907q76YY4>).

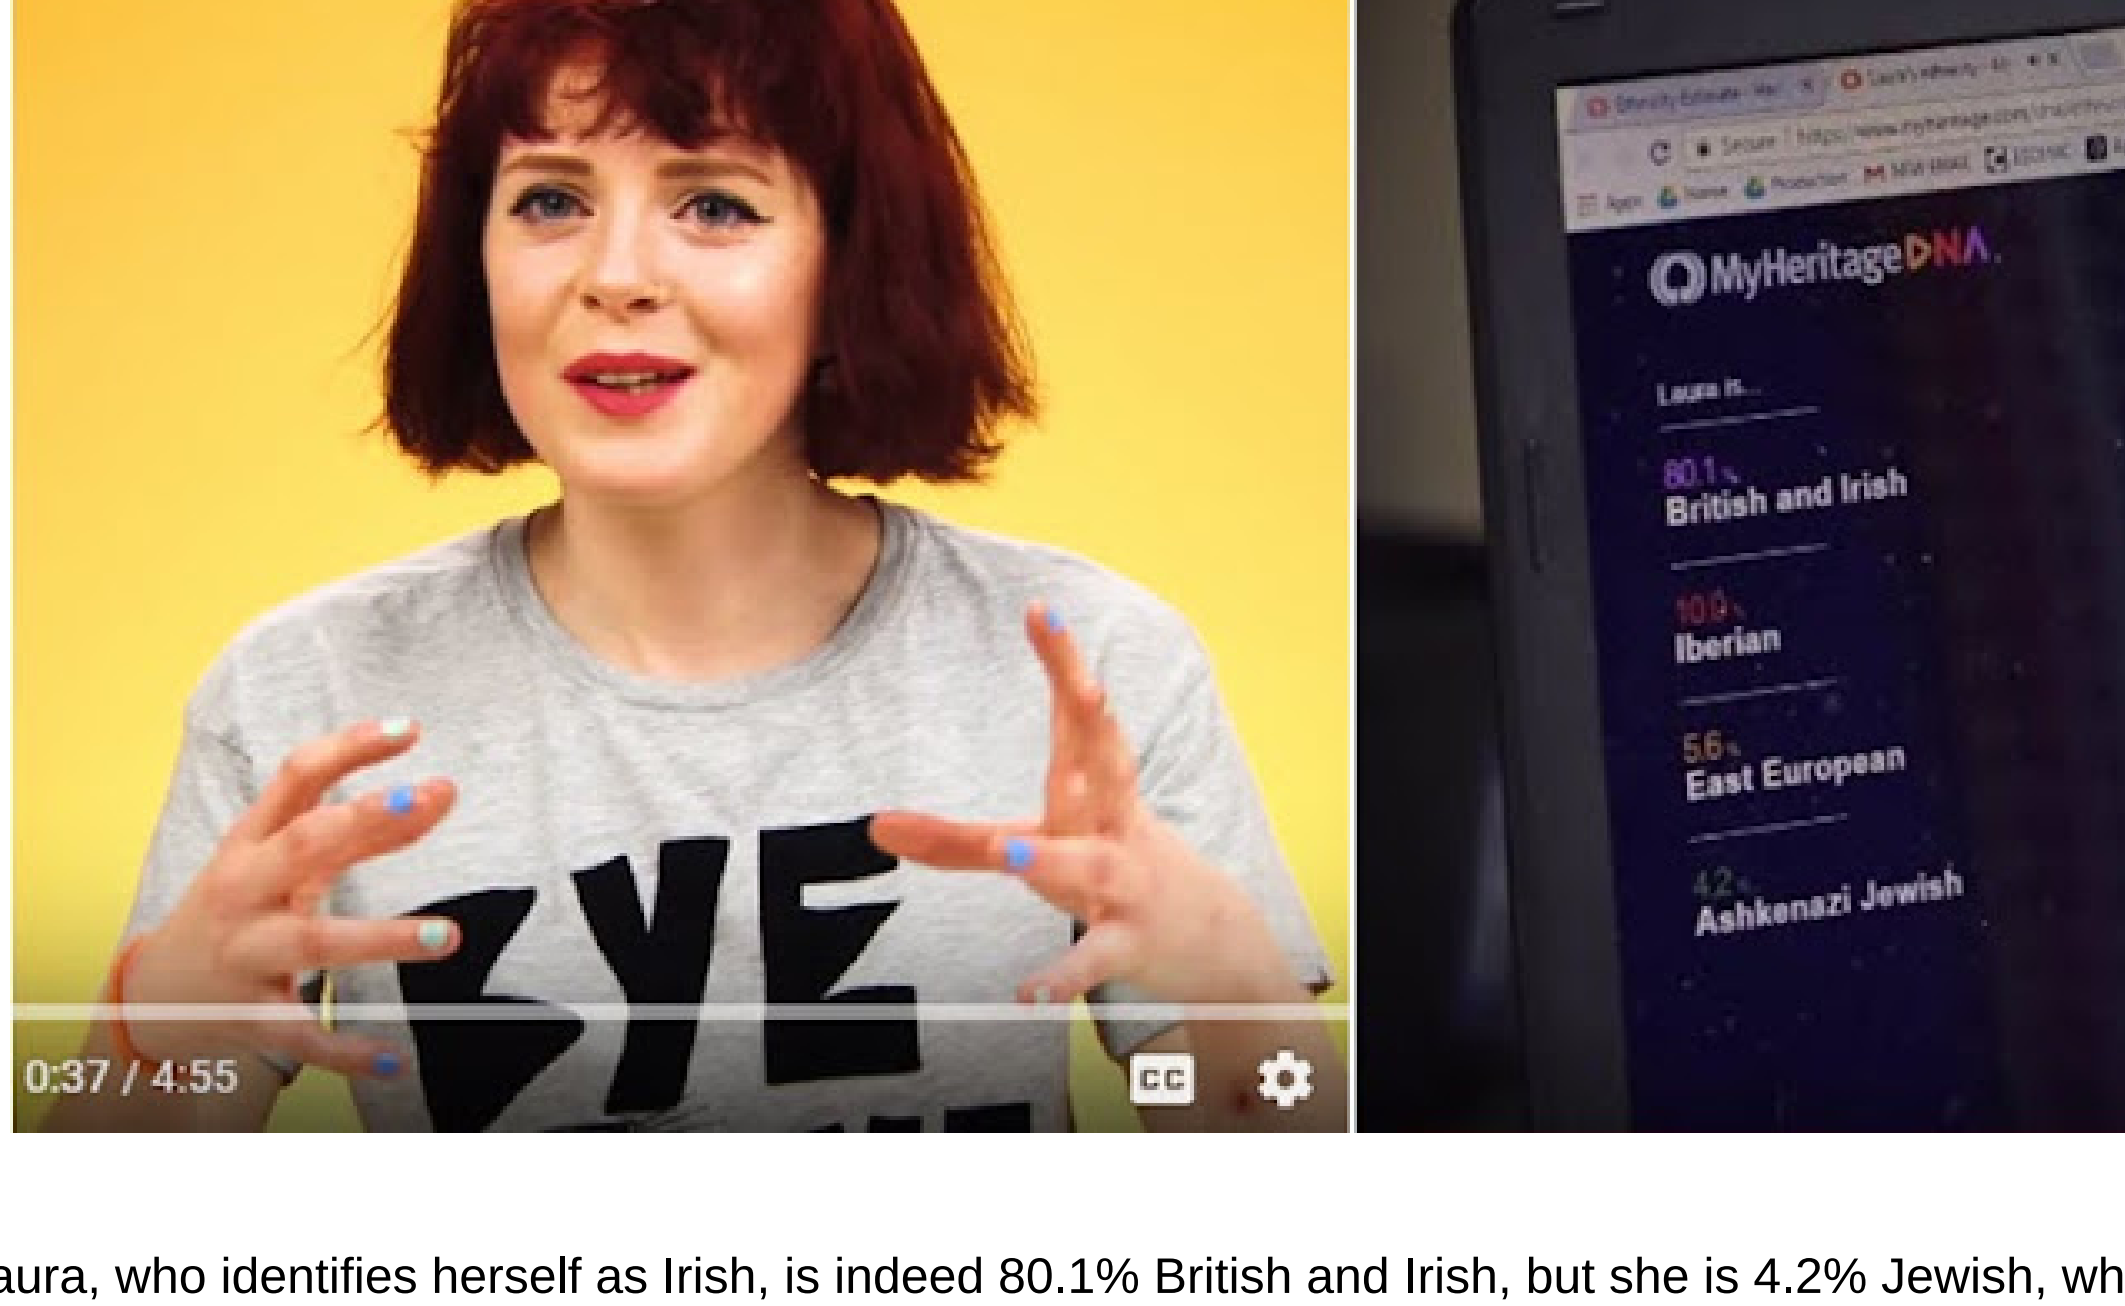

Figure 4. Laura, who identifies herself as Irish, is indeed 80.1% British and Irish, but she is 4.2% Jewish, which means that she is a part of the 10 lost tribes of Israel. This also identifies her area of the world, Ireland, as a region where the lost 10 tribes ended up migrating to.

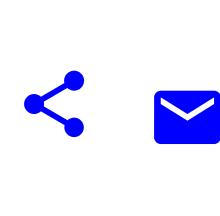

Figure 5. John who also identifies himself as Irish is 94.6% British and Irish but also 4.2% Jewish. The presence of Jewish DNA identifies him as being a part of the lost 10 tribes of Israel and again that Britain, Scotland and Ireland are regions of the world where the 10 lost tribes migrated to and most likely where a large portion of the population is a part of those 10 tribes.

Then, since the United States is mainly made up of people, who have migrated from Europe, we would also expect a large percentage of the population to be a part of the 10 tribes, which means that a large percentage of the population is likely to be a part of Israel. This includes people from old Spanish colonies like Cuba and most of South America because these received a large influx of people from the Iberian Peninsula, where a lot of the lost 10 tribes must have ended up. This is because Iberian DNA is found in the Jews who are known to not intermarry and would thus have most likely been there from the time that Israel left Egypt. Then in their own land they were separated and thus not likely to intermarry but the small part of the DNA from the other tribes would be shared amongst all the Jews. In the same way, the small amount of Jewish DNA in the other tribes would remain in place no matter where they went and who they married.

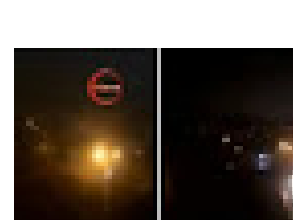

The US population, which may be a part of the lost 10 tribes of Israel also includes South Asian people since this seem to be a region of the world where some of the 10 tribes may have ended up. Since the UK seems to have a large percentage of its population which belongs to Israel, we would expect most of the English speaking nations to also have a large percentage of its population as belonging to the lost 10 tribes. But we would also expect a large number in the whole of Europe, including the Scandinavian countries, Russia, eastern and western Europe, especially Iberia, Italy and Finland. The countries that are likely to have no one belonging to the lost 10 tribes are the eastern Asia countries; countries like China, Japan and Korea.

In conclusion, according to Acts 26:7, The tribes of Israel mixed their DNA through women marrying into the different tribes, during their time in Egypt, which means that all Jews will have a small percentage of DNA from the other tribes, and the people from the lost 10 tribes will have a small part of DNA from the Judah tribe, and can thus be clearly identified as a part of Israel.
