924. Artificial heat wave attracts cyclone to India: US military industrial complex

Dr. Claudia Albers, Planet X Researcher

India has been hit by a severe heat wave which has sent the temperature soaring to 50° C (122 °F). This temperature is unprecedented and deadly to people who are susceptible to heat stroke or dehydration, such as the elderly, if air conditioning is not available. The capital of India, a city of some 26 million people, in the North of India has been especially affected.

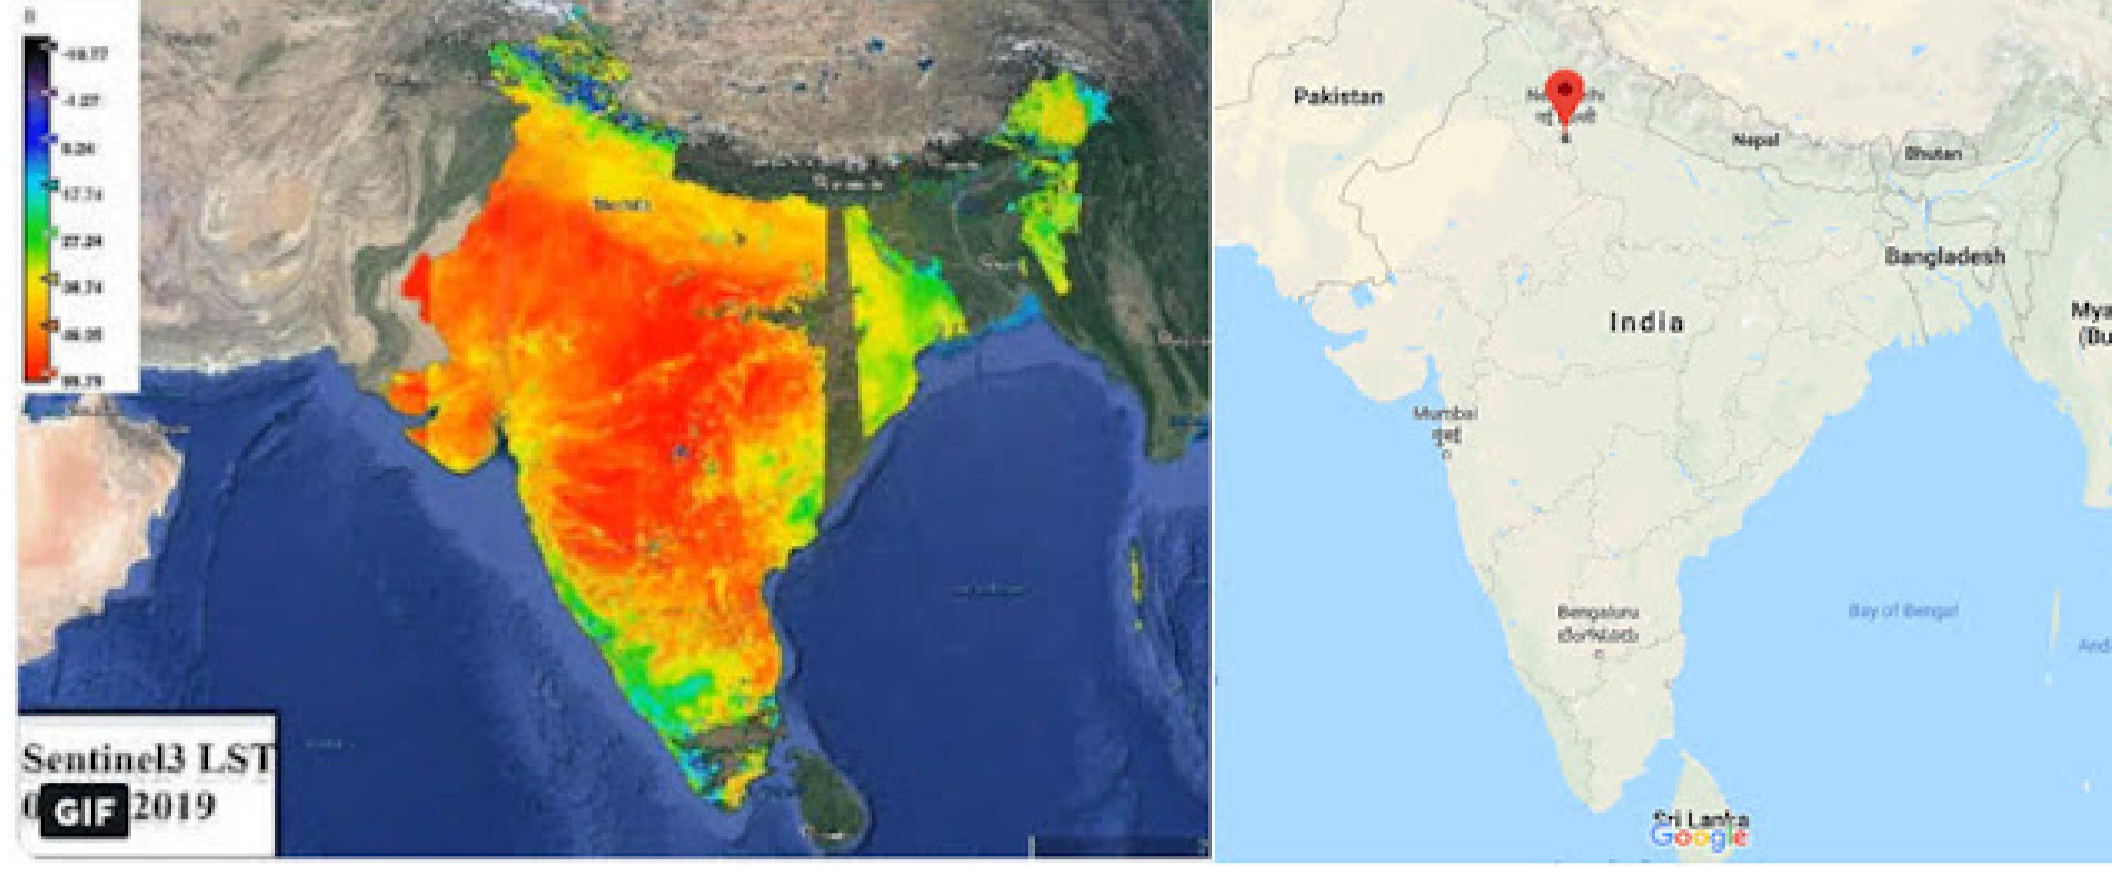

Figure 1. Left: weather map showing how the interior of the country of India has been especially affected by soaring temperatures. New Delhi, the capital which is in the northern interior has been especially affected. Right: map showing where New Delhi, the capital of India is located [1].

A temperature as high as 50° C, is not supposed to be possible on earth unless perhaps in the center of the Australian desert, but it seems to be happening more and more, and it is happening in areas with very high population density, which in itself shows you that such a temperature is not normal, as no country would establish a city, in an area, where the climate makes it impossible to live, especially not at a time when no air conditioners were available. The capital of India moved to Delhi in 1911, when there were no air conditioning units available. The air conditioner was invented in 1902 but it was not until the 1950s that they became widely available to cool buildings. Now, as I have shown in many previous articles, the Sun is no longer emitting visible light and has been replaced by Sun simulators. The powers that be are using these sun simulators to control the weather. They are therefore turning these sun simulators on to full power over India and increasing the temperatures there beyond what is normal.

The high temperatures produced by the Sun simulators also attract the Planet X Stellar cores that create the weather and the powers that be are thus attracting and steering the weather systems to desired locations (see Article 493: Weather Manipulation: Planet X under Intelligent Control) [2]. So, it is of course not surprising that a massive cyclone is expected to make landfall in India very soon.

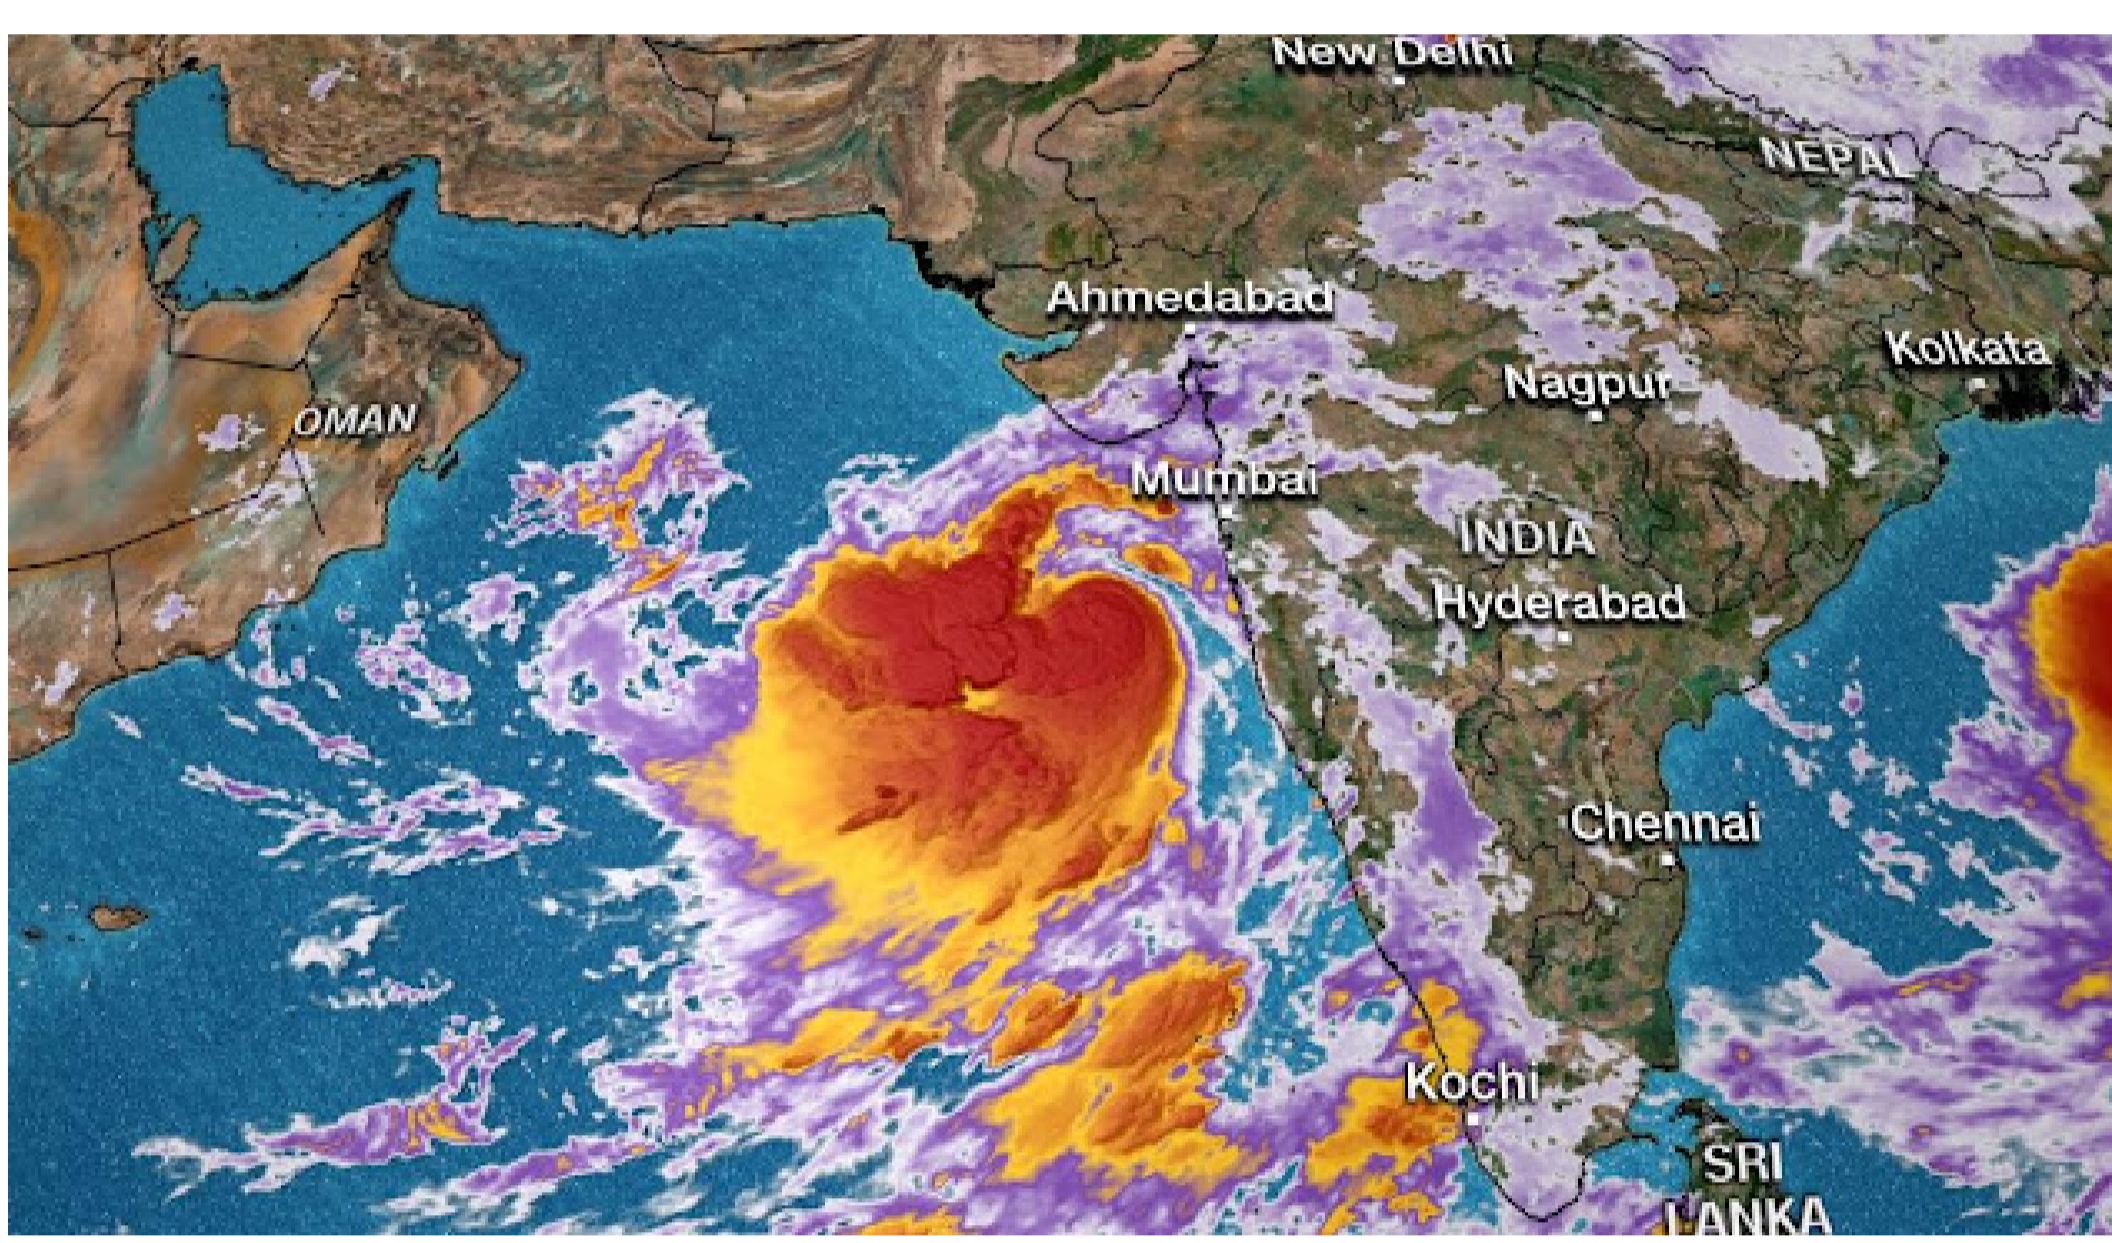

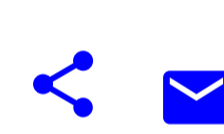

Figure 2. Cyclone Vayu heading for India, 300 000 people have been evacuated, as of June 13th 2019 (Source: CNN).

This comes at a time when the US government is trying to get India to buy weapons from them and comes after a similar event, which occurred earlier this year when India chose to buy weapons from Russia instead, which would suggest that the US military industrial complex is in charge of the Sun simulation and weather (Planet X) control system and is using it in a very unjust way (see YouTube video by DAHBOO77, from June 13 2019, entitled: Mega Heat Wave Scorches India As Temps Hit 50C, Melting Roads) [3].

In conclusion, a heat wave in India appears to be for the purpose of attracting a Planet X cyclone producing system. The heat is produced by sun simulators and the fact that this seems associated to the selling of US weapons to India, suggests that the US military industrial complex is in charge of the sun simulation and weather (Planet X) worldwide control system.
